Areté Awards

The Arete Award recognizes student work of truly exceptional creative or intellectual merit. This may take the form of a scholarly work in any academic area, such as an essay, a project, a presentation, a performance, or a work of art; it may be work that a student has produced for a class, or outside of class, but it must have its genesis here, at St. George's School.

Victoria Alcorn Boatwright '17

Victoria engaged in a uniquely ambitious, yearlong study of Linguistics, using university resources to explore the meaning, history and brain function of language. Her public exhibition of this work marked her pursuit as intellectually exceptional.

Daisy Eloise Eileen Mayer '17

Anna Elizabeth Rittenhouse '17

As authors, collaborators and performers in Exodus, an original play debuted in 2017 at St. George's, Daisy and Anna helped not only to devise an exceptional theatrical work, but also to navigate a challenging landscape with sensitivity and imaginative artistry.

Bochu Ding '17

Nurzhan Jandosov '17

Eva Stasi Killenberg '17

Avis MacGuffie Zane '17

Naya Oni Ramtahal '18

Timofey Pozhitkov '19

As collaborators, co-creators and performers in Exodus, an original play debuted in 2017 at St. George's, these students helped not only to devise an exceptional theatrical work, but also to navigate a challenging landscape with sensitivity and imaginative artistry.
